VOL. LXXX. NUMBER 20

New Course At ACHS Is Popular

A new course added to the curriculum of Antioch High School this year was an instant success. It's the Art course, taught by Mrs. Jane Craner.

There are 97 students enrolled in the five classes, all Mrs. Craner can handle. More would have liked to take the course but there just wasn't room for them.

Most of the students will get only one semester of this course, so that other students may take it the second half of the year. About 20 of the more talented will be selected by Mrs. Craner to make up an advanced Art Course for the second semester.

Most of the students are completely without any earlier teaching in Art, a subject not offered in the local elementary schools. "It's a distinct handicap," Mrs. Craner said. "They don't even know any of the terms used. First of all, they have to learn the phraseology, the terms used, before I even start giving them any basic training."

If your idea of art is a painted picture, you'll be surprised at the variety of skills practiced by Mrs. Craner's pupils. In a semester they get a smattering of drawing, sculpturing, ceramics, wood carving, silk screen printing and commercial art. Plus some practice in the abstract field with string designs, collages, mosaics and what-have-you.

The class in session when I visited the art room was busy with their individual sculpturing projects. Each student chose his own subject, Mrs. Craner said, and the material he would work with. There were any number of attractive pieces being carefully carved, most of them in plaster.

Marty McConahay had chosen a mixture of vermiculite and cement to work on, a harder material than the plaster, grayish in color. He was working on two heads leaned lovingly together. He cast the starting block for his work in a toaster box.

Mary Pat Lasco was working on two plaster masks, Happiness and Tragedy. A clothing box was the form for her blocks of plaster.

Linda Myslinski worked on a plaster angel that started as a milk carton of the plaster mixture. Carol Sillanoff carved her cat from a block of plaster formed in a shoe box.

"Other people's cast-offs are our tools," Mrs. Craner commented, pointing to a mobile made from bits of bright aluminum, string and wire. "We use the trays from TV dinners, bits of glass, all sorts of things."

Mrs. Craner showed me how the bits of colored glass would be used to add a touch of beauty to a ceramic dish. A few dropped in the dish, covered with a sheet of clear glass, then baked in the kiln that's part of the equipment in the art room. The glass melts, the ceramics and glass fuse together, and presto, a pleasing gift or a distinctive touch to someone's home.

"I brought a whole pile of this broken stained glass back from the east with me," Mrs. Craner said. "It's just broken pieces from a plant, but we'll use it for all sorts of things."

The students use many of the arts they learn to make useful items. Silk screen printing is art with a highly useful end product. Making their own designs, the students can print personalized

Antioch Patrolmen Attend FBI School

Three members of the Antioch police force, Patrolmen Harold Mason, Harold Wilson and Art Wertz, are attending FBI Training School at Zion.

The men attend Monday evening courses for a six week period.

Chief Jack Heick said he is trying to make arrangements to have all members of the force attend a judo course starting next month at Fox Lake. The course is valuable for self protection in apprehending criminals, he said.

Chief Heick returned from a Montana vacation on October 27. It was a hunting trip and he bagged his legal limit, two deer and one antelope, he reported.

Chief Heick asked that motorists be reminded that a "No Parking" zone has been established on Orchard St. from Broadway to Hillside.

Collect Used Clothes For Appalachia

The Freshman Class of Antioch Community High School will conduct the annual clothing drive for the school children in Appalachia November 15 through November 19.

"Here is an excellent opportunity to take an active part in the war on poverty," said freshman sponsor Bernard Fosmark. "In the Southern Appalachian Mountains, the American dream of opportunity and education for all is only a hopeless yearning in the hearts of too many boys and girls. Children in Appalachia are frequently forced to drop out of school for lack of warm, presentable clothes to wear. Old clean clothes (shirts, suits, slacks, dresses, skirts, shoes, etc.) in good repair are urgently needed."

Citizens are urged to clean out closets full of clothing they won't or can't wear any more and bring them to Antioch Community High School on November 15 through November 19. "Enjoy a gratifying Thanksgiving knowing you have given a poverty stricken child something to be thankful for," said Mr. Fosmark.

Studded Tires Illegal Lorenz Warns

Tire manufacturers and dealers were warned last week by Francis S. Lorenz, public works director, that metal studded tires are illegal for use on Illinois highways. In a letter to manufacturers he pointed out that recent advertising offering the tires for sale is misleading to motorists.

Lorenz called attention in his letter to the Uniform Act Regulating Traffic on Highways that provides in part: "No motor vehicle shall be operated upon the improved highways of the State which shall be equipped with any anti-skid or non-slip device so constructed that any rigid or non-flexible portion of same comes in contact with the pavement."

Lorenz concluded by urging all tire manufacturers to refrain from advertising or selling metal studded tires for use on Illinois highways and also requested that tire dealers be advised of the prohibition.

Mrs. Lucille Kutil Former Resident of Antioch, Dies

Mrs. Lucille A. Kutil, 68 years old of 621 Poplar St., Waukegan, passed away at 9:33 on Thursday, Nov. 4, at St. Therese Hospital, Waukegan, following a lingering illness.

She was born Nov. 27, 1896 at Seymour, Wis., the daughter of Samuel and Freeda Knox. She married Clarence L. Kutil on Feb. 10, 1923 at Eau Claire, Wis., and moved to Antioch that year, and has resided in Waukegan since 1951.

She was a member of the First Methodist Church in Waukegan, and a former member of the Antioch Methodist Church. She was a past president and charter member of the Antioch Home Bureau. Mrs. Kutil, an accomplished musician, held membership in Antioch Chapter No. 428 Order of the Eastern Star and had served as its organist for several years.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Clarence L. Kutil June 26, 1949. He taught agriculture in the Seymour High School before moving to Antioch, where he taught Agriculture for 25½ years at the Antioch Community High School. Mr. Kutil was a national figure in Future Farmers of America activities and 4-H work. He was one of the organizers of the Antioch Poultry Fair which was the forerunner of the Lake County Fair now held at Grayslake.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Dale (June) Olson of Waukegan; two brothers, John Knox of Seymour, Wis., and Vernon Knox, Menasha, Wis.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 6, at the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch. The Rev. Gail DeVore of the First Methodist Church of Waukegan officiated at the services. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery at Antioch. Friends called at the funeral home after 3 p.m. Friday until service time.

Rescue Squad Calls Made Last Week

The Antioch Rescue squad took Vince Guarelli, 37, of 8036 Church Hill, Niles, to Zion Hospital Thursday when he was injured in the collision of two trucks at the intersection of Routes 45 and 173.

Jeff Paasche, 16, Antioch, was taken to the clinic last Thursday when he incurred a hip injury while playing football.

Roger Davis, 40, Rt. 1, Antioch, was taken to victory Memorial Hospital Nov. 8.

Ella Lingenfelter, 76, of Rt. 4, Antioch, was taken to the hospital by the squad Nov. 9.

Harry Lindberg, 60, of Rt. 4, Antioch, was treated at a doctor's office after his leg was injured in a tractor accident on Nov. 8.

Solve Moving Problem By Donating Furnishings To School Building Fund

After selling their farm last week, the Robert Lindquist family solved the problem of not moving their household furnishings with them to Florida by donating them to the Urban J. Eppers School Building Fund.

Their neighbors pitched in with trucks and wagons to haul the items to a neighboring farm for a "Breaking up Housekeeping Sale."

The proceeds from the sale will be added to the Urban J. Eppers School Building Fund for "St. Francis School" in Brighton. The fund is named in honor of Mr. Eppers for his 25 years service as Town Chairman.

Saleable items are being contributed by other neighbors to swell the fund. Among items for sale are water skis, surf board, records, appliances, etc.

The sale will be held at the John Kerkman farm, 5 miles north of Hwy. 50 and 75 (Brass Ball Corners), on Hwy. JB. The sale will be

County Board Budget Highest In History

The Lake County Board of Supervisors has a full schedule confronting it as it meets this week.

The board will be asked to approve the highest budget in its history, an appropriation of $13,965,520. The budget is $748,635 higher than last year.

Half of the total budget is for road and bridge construction, highway maintenance and operation of the highway department.

Two million dollars of the proposed budget is destined for welfare, health services and education. Of this, $495,000 is for the tuberculosis sanitarium, $426,000 for the health department, $371,500 for the county home and $366,200 for the county general hospital.

One-half million dollars will go to the public building commission for rent for the new county building now being built. One and one-half million dollars covers operation of courts, probation department, sheriff's office, state's attorney and public defender.

The board is also considering institution of the district assessment plan, made possible by a state law passed by the 74th General Assembly.

Under the proposed plan, one district would be assessed each year instead of all districts assessed every four years. This would spread the work load.

District 1 townships recommended for assessment in 1967 are Antioch, Benton, Zion, Newport, Lake Villa and Grant; district 2, Avon, Warren and Waukegan in 1968; district 3, Shields, Libertyville, Fremont, Wauconda and Cuba in 1969; and district 4, Elia, Vernon, West Deerfield and Deerfield, also in 1969.

Under the present plan, districts 3 and 4 would be assessed at the same time avoid a 7-year gap in assessments. Starting in 1970, the plan would be put on a 4-year basis.

Lake Villa Bands Schedule Concert

The seventeenth annual Fall Concert of the Lake Villa Grade School Bands, senior and junior, will be held Sunday, November 14, at the Central School gym in Lake Villa. The concert will start at 3:30 p.m.

Theme of the concert will be A Salute to the Birthday of the U. S. Marines. Tickets may be purchased from band members.

The bands are under the direction of Thala Rush.

Observe National Education Week

National Education Week was observed in Antioch schools this week, with displays and exhibits and a program of parent visitation.

At Antioch High School, the Future Teachers of America were in charge of the program. Parents were invited to spend a day at school, conducted through various departments by their student children.

At the grade schools, the same system of parent visits was encouraged.

Ray Page, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, said that this marks the 44th observance of National Education Week.

Page said that the theme this year, "Invest in Learning," is most apt in this year of social and economic change. But he voiced a warning that the encroachment of Federal control of education looms even greater as more and more Federal money is pumped into educational programs at the local level. "Our long range goals must include alertness and a sense of values which will enable us to keep control of our school-where-it-belongs, at the local level," he said. "This is more important than any immediate, short term help that we might receive."

Announce Action on Drivers License

The office of Secretary of State Paul Powell has announced action taken by the Drivers License Division of his office. The license of Howard L. Brooks, 928 Main St., Antioch, was revoked for driving while intoxicated.

Guest Soloist At ACHS Concert

Fred Hemke, prominent saxophone virtuoso, will appear as soloist with the Antioch High School Concert Band this Saturday (Nov. 13). The band will present the annual Fall Concert in the high school auditorium, starting at 8 p.m.

Mr. Hemke is Assistant Professor of Music at Northwestern University, and has been saxophone instructor at the Gunnison, Colorado, Band Camp; the Interlochen National Music Camp; and Bomidji, Minn., Band Camp. Mr. Hemke is currently chairman of the Collegiate and Preparatory departments

Make Plans For Christmas Season

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce is already busy with plans to make this a festive Christmas in Antioch.

Aerial streamers of colored lights will be added to two new spots—at the entrance to Industrial Acres on Route 173 and on Depot St. These will be in addition to the strings of lights that cross the highway at Routes 173 and 59, at 173 and 83 and on North Main St.

A Christmas tree will be placed in the planter at the corner of Lake and Main Sts. Choral groups will sing Christmas carols on street corners in the evening during the shopping season before Christmas.

Any singing groups that have not been contacted and would like to offer their services are asked to contact Howard Shepard or Preston Reckers.

Santa Claus will arrive in Antioch by helicopter on Dec. 4 at 10:30 a.m. A few children will get a ride in Santa's helicopter.

Work has been in progress for the past year at an expense of over a million dollars. However, no rate increase will be made to telephone subscribers.

The first phase for this addition was the number change and then the new transistorized equipment was installed to make this program possible.

This system will be primarily a convenience to the subscriber. It will save time in putting through a call and there will be less chance for error in charging the out-of-town calls to the subscriber because of the new foolproof transistorized equipment, and will eliminate the possibility of human error in calls made through telephone operators.

Before driving your car early in the morning, take time to clear moisture and frost from the windshield and rear window. Good visibility is essential to safe driving.

Chamber Completes Brochure On Antioch

A brochure describing Antioch and the surrounding area goes to the printer this week and should be ready for distribution in a few weeks. John Romer announced at Monday's meeting of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Romer, vice president of the Chamber, presided at the meeting in the absence of President Richard Miller.

Compilation of material for the brochure was undertaken by Mr. Romer about a year ago. The booklet is intended for distribution to industries and persons considering Antioch as a place to locate and looking for information on the town's facilities and attractions.

No advertising is included in the brochure. Some of the pictures included are views of Lake St., Main St., the Village Hall, the Rescue Squad building and schools.

A detailed map of Antioch is on the back page. The brochure includes a short history of the town and describes its geographical location, population, industrial development, churches, schools, banks and transportation facilities.

A Timely Warning

The Lake County Safety Commission has come up with a timely word of warning on the condition of road shoulders in the area.

Route 59 south of Antioch is one of the worst spots in this respect. The road is narrow, the edges of the pavement are broken and in many spots dangerous ruts have developed at the pavement edge. The condition is a made-to-order accident-causer.

Winter's coming up and we'll soon be getting our quota of slippery roads. The bad shoulders will be doubly dangerous in bad driving weather.

"Lack of man-power and money" will probably be the cry of the State Highway Department in regard to this poor maintenance. It's difficult to believe that in the millions that roll into the state coffers for road maintenance, they can't budget for the comparatively small expenditure required for good road housekeeping.

Courthouse Notebook

BY LOU DURKIN

Officials of the Chicago White Sox are faced with a top decision, not unlike those facing leaders of the Republican Party, when it comes to selecting a manager to replace the popular Al Lopez who recently resigned.

The Sox will not only have to pick a sound baseball tactician, but someone who can compete successfully with Leo Durocher, new manager of the Chicago Cubs, for some headline space.

Durocher can be expected to instill some excitement and color into the vine-covered confines of Wrigley Field and the White Sox will need more than an also-ran team to compete at the gate and in the headlines.

One suggestion that has been made would put Jim Piersall, the sometimes flaky and always exciting outfielder with Los Angeles, in the seat formerly occupied by Lopez.

Piersall could certainly attract some publicity for the Sox and counteract Durocher in this respect.

The Illinois GOP is also faced with the problem of finding candidates at the state level, who can stir up interest in their cause and pull some votes from the Democrats if they hope to get back in the state political picture.

It isn't enough to pick candidates who are good administrators or executives; they must have color or voter appeal and that something extra that will make people support them in spite of their speeches or platforms.

This will be especially true in the fight to replace U. S. Senator Paul Douglas because the snow-haired solon has a good track record as a candidate and will have quite a bit going for him in his battle for re-election.

On the other side of the political coin Lake County Democrats are almost as elated as the GOP at the upset victory scored by Republican John Lindsay in last week's New York mayor race.

Lake County Demos figure that a Democratic victory in Lake County is no more improbable than a GOP victory in New York and are reportedly girding themselves for a genuine effort in next year's local election.

On the shoreline Henry Bogdala, of Waukegan, has re-activated the Waukegan-North Chicago Democratic Club and there is a new group called the Twin Cities Regular Democratic Organization that is bidding for attention.

Again it appears that selection of candidates who can win support from the opposition party will be more important than issues although an all-out assault on the Republican-dominated Lake County Board of Supervisors could generate some interest for the Democratic cause.

The local political picture is taking on some strange hues with interest suddenly developing in the sheriff and county treasurer races on the probable chief deputies who would be running mates for some of the primary candidates.

Despite rumors that he plans to retire after his present term Sheriff Charles Larson has to be considered as the running mate of Chief Deputy Norris Froelich and a top contender for chief deputy after the election.

There is reportedly an effort being made to run Sheriff's Capt. Harold Schesckie and Waukegan Police Capt. John Brake as an entry with Brake spending four years in the wings awaiting his chance to run.

So far, nobody has been openly linked with Zion Police Chief Lloyd DeTienne who is the only sheriff candidate who has banners and posters in evidence.

There is a report that County Treasurer Karl Berning, who cannot succeed himself, will team up with a treasurer candidate with the strategy of returning to his present post four years hence, but this depends on how fares his candidacy for State Senator.

Off his performance as a member of the county board it would appear that Berning finds more comfort and solace in a legislative type position rather than as an administrator.

A rather unlikely, but still logical entry would be a pairing of former treasurer Guy O. Lunn with Warren Supervisor Robert Depke, who has been listed as a possible candidate, but who lacks experience in the treasurer's office.

Depke could help the Lunn cause and prepare himself for running in 1970.

Your Congressman

By Cong. Robert McClory

Many of the highly controversial and most interesting subjects of legislation of the 1st Session of the 89th Congress were considered by the Judiciary Committee, upon which this Member of Congress serves. Of these, the voting rights and immigration bills as well as the constitutional amendment relative to Presidential Succession and Disability are among the best known. In addition to these subjects, the Committee considered close to 100 bills effecting changes in our Federal statutes and more than 1,000 private bills involving claims against the government and individual immigration cases.

Legislative activity affecting the 12th Congressional District includes the Military Construction Appropriation Bill (H.R. 10323) providing funds for the establishment of the 5th Army Headquarters at Fort Sheridan. Military Housing at Fort Sheridan and at Great Lakes Naval Training Center as well as other improvements at both of these important bases are also of particular interest to 12th District residents. Funds to initiate a feasibility study for a small boat harbor at Highland Park as well as initial step for a corresponding small boat harbor at Zion were part of the legislative work of this session. Other engineering projects are under way affecting the Waukegan Harbor as well as the Fox River and the Des Plaines River.

The huge legislative production of this 1st Session of the 89th Congress included many measures which, in the opinion of this Member, might better have been left to state, local and individual initiative. The resistance to still other proposals indicates that the 2nd Session of this Congress will be fraught with bitter controversy and very little in the way of new legislation.

Still pending on the agenda at the close of the session is the proposed repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, a proposal aimed at repealing the laws of 19 states where union shop clauses in labor-management contracts have been outlawed. In the labor-management field proposals to amend the Fair Labor Standards Act by increasing the minimum wage to $2, requiring payment of double-time wages for hours worked in excess of 40 or 48 hours per week, and reduction of the standard work week from 40 to 35 hours per week are included. Measures to legalize secondary boycotts and to consolidate the unemployment compensation programs of the 50 states into one huge Federal program were also pending at the end of the session.

The highly emotional issue of Home Rule for the District of Columbia remains for the 2nd Session of this Congress or some later Congress to decide. General revision of the copyright laws is also expected to come to the House floor later. Federal control of firearms, including mail order sales of rifles and pistols, is a red-hot issue awaiting action next year.

These and other proposals which may not yet have been introduced will receive attention by the 89th Congress.

ALONG THE WAY with Annie Mae

It's the time of year for illness, dieting, fashion shows and changing hair styles. Our town has a little bit of each. Dr. and Eddie Abdenholden spent a few days in Victory hospital as roommates, both are now on the mend. Also on the sick list is Dr. A. N. Berke.

Gloria Patrovsky is now an attractive blond, and Ainsley Brook is wearing a long braid that was very much a conversation piece at the Emmos school fashion show. Among the lovely models participating were Angie Maris, Dee Schlak, Amy Grohs, Lynn Hall, Martha Major, Sharon Kramer, Gwen Hoffman, Phyllis Kapischke, Rose Kennedy and Leona Petersen. Leona had a very busy week. She and her five daughters, Doris Hutton, June Crichton, Sigrid McNamer, Phyllis Love and Virginia Kovac all were on hand to celebrate Rainbow's 25th anniversary. All the girls were past Grand Representatives and worthy Advisors. Who's dieting?

when it reconvenes in January. During the current recess many Members of Congress will engage in committee and commission work, including investigations occurring in Washington, other parts of the country and abroad. Some Members of the Judiciary Committee, including this member, will undertake investigation on pending narcotics legislation aimed at reducing the traffic in narcotics and helping to rehabilitate narcotics addicts. In addition, military and civilian claims against the government originating at various overseas bases will be investigated during this period.

The legislative program, including the major bills which have been outlined above, has been prepared and carried out largely through the efforts of the Democratic Administration with its overwhelming influence in the White House and its better than two-to-one majorities in the House and Senate. This should not indicate that the Republican Members of Congress have not contributed to the final legislative results. In many cases, as in the voting rights, immigration, health care, water pollution, education, and other measures, Republicans have contributed substantially to produce the final form of these measures. In the case of repeal of the excise taxes, the Administration carried through on a proposal which the Republicans initiated at the last session of Congress. Numerous recommendations of the Republican Minority were adopted in the final form of the immigration bill, and an estimated three-fourths of the health care proposal represents programs initiated or supported by more Republicans. At least one-half of the voting rights measure reflects Republican recommendations.

Bills such as the Manpower Development and Training Act, the Water Resources Planning Act, the Community Health Services Act, the Drug Abuse Control Amendments, the National Vocational Student Loan Insurance Act and others passed the House of Representatives as well as the Senate unanimously. The fact is there were very few close votes. Even the highly controversial bill creating a new Department of Housing and Urban Development (H. R. 6927) was passed with 6 votes to spare. This was the narrowest margin by which any of the bills passed which are now among our new laws.

In general the Johnson Administration has had smooth sailing in the House and Senate during the 1st Session of the 89th Congress. It is the expectation of this Member of Congress that in this respect at least, the 2nd Session of the 89th Congress will be quite different.

Of late many perpetrators of disorderly conduct and even crime have excused themselves as making 'protests' against some policy they disliked. Such an attitude is far off base, however. The Antioch News
Antioch, Ill.
Dear Editor:

At the Antioch High School PTA meeting last week, an adult panel which included part of the Student Council, was called to order by Mr. Brown. The subject for discussion was the proper form of dress for students. Another subject considered by the panel was student behavior.

As parents I believe we should commend and support the Student Council for making a stand for the right on a code of rules for dress and conduct. When you see and also hear statements made by Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, of the FBI, the shocking facts of juvenile crimes, we can understand the importance of their decision. Favorable comments from other schools about our students' mode of dress is to their credit.

Shorts and slacks have their place when worn in a reasonable manner. So many of the fair sex don't seem to know their size in wearing them and publicly display a supple curvaceous figure. Women used to have a sense of propriety and I believe a good many still do. "Oh, but everybody is doing it!" Such a response seems to give license to many an erring way.

Human nature has ever been prone to go our errant ways and it becomes necessary to formulate a standard of ethics. The best authority on the ethics of life is the Family Bible. It is a tragedy that in our land of religious freedom a minority group of atheists succeeded to ban the Bible from the literature of our educational institutions. It is the Bible that teaches us a sense of values of life. It instills a respect and reverence for God. It teaches that children are to honor their parents. That we are to obey the ones that are in authority. And we are to love our neighbor as ourselves. It also mentions that it is an abomination for women to wear men's clothing! These are but a few of many statutes and precepts given by God to Moses for the good of the children of Israel.

So to the Student Council: take heart, to have a good garden we need to hoe to the line with a purpose.

Dear Editor:
Halloween is over and many trick or treaters also solicited for UNICEF. I wonder how many people realize just how UNICEF will be used.

It appears that the majority of funds actually collected are matched with U. S. government dollars and then administered by an agency that is neither responsible to the government that supports it nor the people who contribute to it.

Take, for example, the case of the "juggled $10 million." This fantastic expose of diversion of funds contributed by our government to UNICEF in 1962 was first related in a Chicago newspaper.

Originally earmarked for child welfare work through-out the world—projects that were to be administered by UNICEF—the $10 million actually wound up in the general fund of the United Nations and eventually was utilized for U. N. "police action" in the strife-torn Congo.

I'm sure that any one who contributed money, either through Halloween door-to-door solicitation or through tax dollars, to children's relief did not intend for their contributions to create more hardships and suffering for millions of children, and this is exactly what the U. N. forces in the Congo, through military intervention, were responsible for.

Only a minute piece of so-called government aid finds its way to the needy. Most of it ends up in Swiss bank accounts and is used to further the conditions—communism and revolution—that fosters poverty in the first place.

An Open Letter to The Editor

Dear Mr. Gaston,
I take great exception with your remarks to Mrs. S. Spacek's Letter to the Editor, Thursday, Oct. 28.

The fact that there is a Communist controlled Cuba in our back yard, should be frightening to us all.

These people are a brave lot to leave their homes and country. They have courage and dignity of man, to want to stand on their own two feet and be free, rather than live on bended knees, in a Godless monolithic society.

Of course, our country isn't the fabled Shangri-la, and as you say, "It's the best country in the world," but isn't it time we got off our complacent posteriors and realize that there is a communist threat to our country?

Where do you plan to escape to with your printing press, when you wake up some day and find that you have slept through the Socialistic Welfare State and are now living with full-blown Communism?

Where, Mr. Gaston, where?

OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF ANTIOCH

Dear Friends:

Since we left Antioch rather hurriedly after closing out our masonry business, we did not have time to see and say good-bye to our many friends and business acquaintances in the area. We wish to thank you all for your patronage in the 10 years we were in operation. We would also like to thank our many friends in the Loyal Order of Moose and Lions Club for their friendship throughout the years.

Though we are busy enjoying and exploring our new home in the state of Colorado, we will always have fond memories of the years we spent in Antioch. We feel we have left a part of our lives with you.

We hope to return often to renew old acquaintances and make new ones and we extend an invitation to all our friends to stop and visit us in Louisville (17 miles north of Denver) if they are ever in the area.

Good-bye, and thank you all again!

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schiesser and Family

Dear Antioch News:

I would come in person to thank you but today is my 8th day in bed. I especially want to thank the nice lady who took the picture and information from my mommy and a big big thanks to the pretty Pearl Kapell who wrote it.

Thank all of you and God bless one and all.

Love,
Your little neighbor

I love you all.

No, it wasn't just your imagination. Now that the ragweed season is over, records show that this was one of the worst hay fever seasons ever.

Now that your nose has stopped running and you can stop wheezing, take comfort. This was the worst year, in the 36 years that Abbott Laboratories have taken pollen counts.

So maybe you won't feel that bad for another 36 years.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: For the man who hates to admit he uses cosmetics—now there is a hand lotion for men called Corn Huskers Lotion. And if that isn't masculine enough for you, what could be?

Sometimes it seems as though TV dinners were the answer to the housewives' prayer for speedy convenience. Now an enterprising researcher—a woman, naturally—has come up with an even better solution—providing your afternoon out involves a fairly long trip by car.

This gal has discovered that you can cook a roast while driving by wrapping it in aluminum foil and putting it on the manifold. And a few potatoes, maybe some roasting ears, and Ma can spend the afternoon out driving and bring dinner home, fully cooked.

So if you see cars standing in parking lots with the

Adoptions In State Total Nearly 8,000

Adoptions in the state for the fiscal year ended June 30, totaled 7,791 according to Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health.

This is the total number of children for which birth records were prepared but does not include adoptions of children born in another state (927) or adoptions where the adopting parents did not want a new certificate (48). It does not include foreign-born children adopted in Illinois and 1,103 Illinois-born children adopted in other states.

Of the 7,791 adoptions, almost half went into homes where there were other children and 65 of this group went into families where there were already six or more children. Again, boys were more popular than girls.

While about 85% were under 10 years of age when the adoption took place, 1,211 were over age 10, and 81 of this group were age 20 years and over. Sixty-four adoptions were made by single, unmarried persons.

note paper, designs on cloth table mats, and other products.

The equipment used in the silk screen printing was made in the Manual Arts Department at Mrs. Craner's direction. "I like this type better than the kind you can buy," she explained.

The art room is outfitted with numerous storage cabinets for paper, tools, plaster and all the other products the pupils use. The school furnishes the tools, such as the knives used in sculpturing. Abstract art? "Yes, I try to teach them the principles of good abstract art," Mrs. Craner said. "I don't approve of some of the abstract art that is foisted on the public. Abstract art has to have a plan, a balance, just like any other kind of art. It's not art if you dip a bunch of earthworms in paint and have them crawl around on a canvas, then try to pretend it's a work of art."

Those students who are hoping to pursue their art training in college will find it easier, Mrs. Craner believes, having had at least the one semester of training in high school. The course has also proved popular with the adults in the community. Mrs. Craner teaches an adult class in oil painting in the evening. Her own best medium, she says, is oil painting, and she does oil portraits.

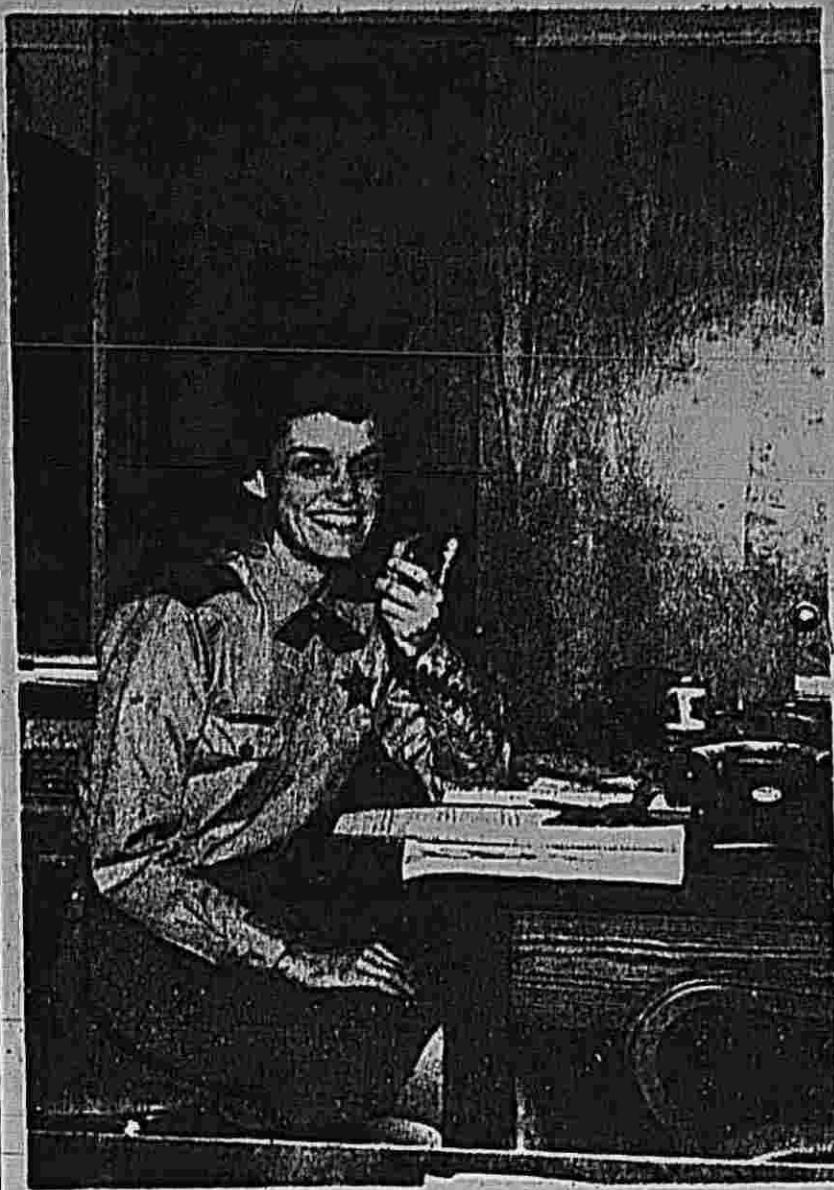

If the class continues to be as popular as now, the art department will have to expand to meet the demand. Yes, the new art course at the high school is certainly a success.

DEER PERMIT QUOTAS

William T. Lodge, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, has announced that shotgun permit quotas have now been reached in counties of Tazewell, Ogle and Massac. This brings the number of deer hunting counties that are closed to 38. Dates for deer hunting this year are Nov. 19, 20 and 21 and Dec. 3, 4 and 5.

Lodge also reminded shotgun deer permit holders to retain their plastic permit envelopes as they will not be provided after 1965.

The lighting booth has been enlarged and improved by the combined efforts of Louis Stahl, Trumann Garrett, and Art Doty. Redecorating of the lobby was handled almost single-handedly by Linnea Christiansen. New program covers were designed by Bob Koemoud and will be used for all productions. Bob has also been designing the posters and they have been silk screened in the Smouse basement. Other improvements are being planned and will keep the group busy until the next show dates on January 14 and 15, 21 and 22.

Ravenglen Farm Cows Classified Excellent

Two registered Holsteins in the herd of Ravenglen Farm, Antioch, have been officially classified "Excellent" — the highest designation attainable in the type classification program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

This highly-coveted designation is applied only to animals scoring 90 or more of the 100 points representing theoretical perfection in body conformation.

Of over 74,000 Registered Holsteins officially classified for type last year, only 735 were rated "Excellent."

During a recent classification of the Illinois herd by Charlie J. Howe, Tunbridge, Vermont, an official inspector on the staff of the national Holstein organization, the following animals scored "Excellent" for the first time: Queenie Raven Glen Princess 6055145, cow, scored 90 points; Reflection Dark Anna 5017276, cow, scored 90 points.

Bad manners can be fatal if they occur behind the wheel of a car. The discourteous driver who tries to get away with something in traffic too often succeeds only in hurting himself and innocent victims. Common courtesy pays off in safe driving.

Grove School To Dedicate New Center

On Sunday, November 14, at the Grove School for Handicapped Children will dedicate their new 27 acre community educational center at 40 East Old Mill Road, Lake Forest.

The school purchased the former Ridge Farm property in June and has been restoring the buildings and changing them over from a residential school for disturbed children to a day school for neurologically handicapped.

The Grove School was established in November, 1958 to serve as an educational treatment center for handicapped children of the North Shore area. Several hundred children have been processed by the school since that time. Over one hundred have moved on to regular school and state-operated programs in special education. Most of the children who attend Grove School have either been rejected outright by public programs, or have no appropriate program established to help them develop properly within the framework of their handicap. Some graduates of the program have gone on to fine prep schools and one this year to college.

Ravenglen Farm Cows Classified Excellent

Two registered Holsteins in the herd of Ravenglen Farm, Antioch, have been officially classified "Excellent" — the highest designation attainable in the type classification program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

This highly-coveted designation is applied only to animals scoring 90 or more of the 100 points representing theoretical perfection in body conformation.

Of over 74,000 Registered Holsteins officially classified for type last year, only 735 were rated "Excellent."

During a recent classification of the Illinois herd by Charlie J. Howe, Tunbridge, Vermont, an official inspector on the staff of the national Holstein organization, the following animals scored "Excellent" for the first time: Queenie Raven Glen Princess 6055145, cow, scored 90 points; Reflection Dark Anna 5017276, cow, scored 90 points.

MOOSE TOPICS

By Lillian Birdsall

Ellen Reeckie, chairman of the Library committee, presented her chapter night program, held at the Antioch Moose Home on Thursday, Nov. 6 with 57 members present.

For entertainment, the co-workers on her committee, portrayed the different characters of the famous fairytales. One by one, all dressed in original costumes, which were very colorful, they paraded around the room and all members present participated in the program by trying to guess who the different characters were. Ellen presented the senior regent, Evelyn Miller, with a book that is to be donated to the Antioch Library and a warrant which is to be sent to Mooseheart. Edith Skowronski was enrolled as a new member sponsored by Carole Harr. Jan Maleski, Antioch's green cap girl, was recapped at this meeting and presented with many beautiful gifts.

The Injun Tee-Pee dinner, sponsored by the Publicity committee, which was held at the Antioch Moose Lodge, Saturday evening, Nov. 6, was a complete success. Helen Jakobs, chairman, and her co-workers, all dressed in Indian costumes, looked very elegant as Injun squaws serving their guests. The center table, a huge tee-pee, was the setting for all the food that was served. The majority of the crowd remained throughout the evening and danced to the music of the Three Lads of Rhythm.

The Legionnaires of the Antioch Moose are the ones responsible for the installation of the new folding door which leads into the main meeting room. The ladies are now capable of closing their own doors and no longer have to disturb the men for that service. They thank you Legionnaires for the wonderful addition to the lodge which is really appreciated. There is to be a meeting

PARENTS MAY CAUSE BEDWETTING

If your child continually wets the bed, you may be to blame.

Case studies show that most chronic bedwetters (15 per cent of all children between the ages of 3 and 14) are the victims of an unhappy home, where there is much parental discord.

"That's ridiculous," a mother said to me recently. "My husband and I never quarrel in front of our children."

But children don't have to see their parents quarrel to sense discord. They can feel it. And the mental stress can cause them to habitually wet the bed.

Over-anxious parents who try to toilet train their child before he is ready, may also be responsible for the bed-wetting habit. Many two and three-year-olds just aren't ready to master bladder control perfectly. And the psychological maturity they need to regulate this natural function could be delayed by scolding, punishing and embarrassing him when he does wet the bed. Besides, children at this age go to the toilet seven times a day. So make allowances.

Although insecurity and over-anxious parents are the most common causes of bed-wetting, this "bad habit" can also be due to sleeping habits. Many bedwetters sleep soundly and are difficult to arouse. In this state, children often dream about passing water, which—in sleep—seems logical, but in the morning leaves them with the realistic fact of a wet bed.

When they don't sleep deeply—on short visits or in a strange bed—they usually keep the bed dry.

If bedwetting is due to deep sleep, it may be overcome by (1) depriving a child of fluids before bedtime and (2) waking him during the night to go to the bathroom. But if a mother uses this technique with a negative and frustrated attitude, she may find the more she wakes her child, the more he wets the bed, till she wonders where it all comes from.

Physical exhaustion is another common cause of bedwetting. Some children play too hard and too long, and when they finally relax, they lose control of their bladder. If a child's activities are limited, bedwetting is usually corrected. Make him rest periodically during the day and retire early in the evening.

If you have a child over four who can't keep his bed dry:

—See to it he receives a thorough physical examination. It's the only means to determine bedwetting is not just a "bad habit."

—Encourage your child to control this habit. Make him self-confident, not self-conscious.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED

Things certainly seem to have changed so far as repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act is concerned. This is the section that permits the states to pass right-to-work laws forbidding compulsory union membership, and 19 have done so. The repeal bill, backed by the Administration and considered a number 1 priority by organized labor, passed the House with comparative ease. The general belief was that the Senate would concur.

But now reports from Washington say there are grave doubts that the bill will come to a Senate vote this year. The ranks of the opponents of repeal have stiffened. Extended debate is promised.

Public opinion, as various polls attest, backs the right to work principle. It doesn't do this because it is against union movement. It does do organized labor—or the union movement. It does do it because it believes that the right of a man to join or not to join any organization, as he so decides without coercion, is a fundamental freedom.

Let the unions gain and hold their memberships on the basis of good service—not with the use of an indefensi-

GLARING PUBLIC OWNERSHIP FAILURE

Writing in The Freeman, Leonard E. Read discussed the water famine that struck in the East this year. In his view, this was at least partly the fault of the failure of the political managers of municipal systems to plan ahead. Then he drew this interesting comparison: "But examine private power and light companies in the U.S.A. Their administrations are looking years ahead as to any possible failure in fuel supply. If they are presently using coal or gas or oil or hydro or atomic power, they have plans for substitution. Their self-interest puts a premium on not getting 'caught short'. If, contrary to present trends, the government doesn't take over these private companies, we can count on it, they'll continue to urge American consumers to use more power and light in the future."

The exact degree to which the water famines can be attributed to the weaknesses of government-owned and operated business is of course a matter of conjecture and argument. But the whole history of socialized business, whether on the local or the national level, is very largely one of waste, duplication of effort, deficit operations (supported by the taxpayers) and costly special privilege. Here the government electric power systems can be cited. They are either wholly or generally tax free—whereas the investor-owned industry pays about a quarter of all its revenues in taxes. They are given below-cost financing from the public treasury. They provide nothing whatsoever that cannot be provided by heavily-taxed private enterprise which asks and is given no subsidies of any kind.

In electric power technology—as in power production and consumption—we lead the world by a large margin. Private enterprise is responsible for that.

TURTLES MAY INFECT

Pet baby turtles are linked with salmonella infections in human beings, according to recent reports. Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said last week that turtle-related cases have been reported in Illinois.

Turtles are most frequently handled by children who, as a group, are not careful to wash their hands. Children are more susceptible to salmonellosis than adults and their infections are more severe. The infection is marked by violent diarrhea and cramps.

A common cause of accidents in autumn is skidding on wet leaves. When mud has accumulated under wet leaves, they can be as treacherous as ice. If at all possible, drive around a pile of leaves. In the event of a skid, however, turn your steering wheel in the direction in which your rear wheels are swerving.

"Watch The Birdie"

The man and his dog with at least one season's hunting experience have the joint problems of getting in condition for a day afield. Both have to sharpen their hunting skills. Training should start six weeks before the season opens. An essential part of this training is "reading." Take your dog on a strong, long leash out on the street, a trail, in a field or along a country road. After a summer of little activity, your hunter will have a lot of get-up-and-go. "Read" your dog about twenty or thirty minutes, then turn him loose so he can run. Give him slow careful training. After he is conditioned for runs of an hour he should be turned loose in a field where he may find birds. By using a check cord you can make him hold points until you flush the birds. The experts at the Purina Pet Care Center in St. Louis suggest that if your state game laws permit, take a gun afield in the closed season and fire over him using blanks. This will remind him to be steady to shot. Both the dog and his owner will benefit from a "refresher" to get into top condition before the season officially starts.

SNARLING CONTEST

The members of one family growled so much at the dinner table that the father suggested that a challenge be issued to a snarling contest. "I believe we have the world beaten," he said. "Age and weight considered, I doubt if my children have equals anywhere. At first I was irritated, but I have come to regard their performances as artistic."

PRIVATE OWNERSHIP

The Junction City, Oregon, Times says: "News releases indicate that union leaders throughout the nation have agreed that 'nationalization' of the country's railroad system should be undertaken. The allegation is that private ownership is not sufficiently concerned with service to the public. Logically, the next step would be for the powerful unions in the printing and publishing field to 'nationalize' the field of communications — press, radio, television. This could be the vital step . . . for federal control of mass media (and) could make certain that thorough indoctrination of 'approved' policies would result in public approval and compliance."

DANGER—WOMEN AT WORK

From the International Falls, Minn., Journal: "There were 24 million women employed in this country last year, while 2 million men were without work. Those statistics were reported by Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant Secretary of Labor, to show that womenpower is needed as well as manpower to meet the plans for the Great Society. For that matter, women have been needed from the beginning of time."

SOMEONE PAYS FOR MEDICARE—WE DO!

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN., JOURNAL: "The coming of Medicare will cost men and women workers $5 billion a year next year, with more later as the rates rise. Someone has discovered that this sum is just $300 million more than the $4.7 billion cut recently ordered in federal excise taxes. Enjoy the tax cut while you can. It will be all eaten up the first of next year when the medical care levy takes effect. Washington gives and Washington takes away."

VICIOUS GANGS

CANTON, PA., INDEPENDENT-SENTINEL: "Gangs have organized in profusion in a this sum is just $300 million number of states. Some have run rampant in week-end sprints in California recently. . . . How vicious and dangerous they can be was shown recently when a teen-age girl, selling cookbooks door-to-door, was dragged into a house and repeatedly raped by members of a motorcycle gang. She suffered a mental breakdown soon after the incident. The time has come for stringent laws and action. . . ."

Sequoits End Football Season With Victory

Antioch closed out their football season Saturday with a 27 to 19 win over Lake Zurich on their own field. The victory gave the Sequoits their first winning football season in many years. Coach Roy Nelson's charges finished with a season's mark of 5 wins and 3 losses and a 4 and 3 mark in conference competition. Tyrone Walls and Mike Sterbenz both scored touchdowns in the game to give them the number one and two spots respectively in the conference scoring column.

Antioch scored the only TD of the first half late in the opening quarter when Tom Blackman lofted a pass to Bill Sheldon in the end zone. The play began from Lake Zurich's 6 yard line and marked the 8th touchdown pass by Blackman for the season. Late in the second quarter the Sequoits threatened again when Blackman threw three consecutive strikes to Mike Sterbenz moving the ball to Lake Zurich's one yard line. A fourth aerial attempt was intercepted however, killing the drive. Lake Zurich tied the score briefly in the third period, taking the opening kickoff and driving 70 yards in 13 plays for the TD. Antioch was quick to take the lead again as they took the kickoff and drove 73 yards in six plays for the score. Key play in the drive was a 45-yard pass play Blackman to Sterbenz. Early in the fourth quarter Sterbenz intercepted a Bear pass and went 81 yards to the Lake Zurich 19 yard line before being brought down. Two plays later Tyrone Walls took it over from the one-yard line. Sterbenz booted his third PAT to boost the score to 21 to 7. Antioch scored again late in the final period when Sterbenz bulled it over from the two yard line. Lake Zurich came back to score twice in the quarter but the Sequoits hung on for the win. Blackman completed 11 of 19 attempts passing for 217 yards while Sterbenz added three of four PAT attempts.

Cage Season Is Just Around The Corner

The last football game of the season for the Sequoits was held last Saturday and Coach Roger Andrews has already begun putting 22 basketball candidates through their paces in an effort to meet a November 20th deadline. With less than two weeks in which to get his team ready to meet McHenry in the season's opener, Andrews' big problem will be filling the gap left by graduated 6'9" center Vic Rogers. That's a pretty large gap to fill but the picture isn't all black. Andrews will have five returning lettermen on which to build a nucleus. Three were last season regulars.

Tyrone Walls, last season all conference pick, Tom Blackman and Mike Sterbenz will be returning from last year's starting unit. Mike Kelly and Pat Sheehan also saw enough action last year to earn their letters. Also lost through graduation from last year's conference championship team is Bernie Smith 6'2" forward. Andrews will have his work cut out for him this year if he hopes to equal last season's 21-6 mark. He can expect to get some help from last season's soph squad in boys like Don Zeman, Jim Litchfield, Bill Sheldon, Fred Gar and Leonard Clark. These five represented the starting unit from Bruce Stahmer's aggressive soph squad last year.

Other candidates from last year's soph squad include Marnie Baker, Bob Murphy, Mike Channell and John Basile. Seniors hoping to make the cut are Dave Serres, Bruce Bonner, Bob Schenk, Jim Byrne, Del Church and Skip Endean.

NICC Turkey Shoot Success

By Harry H. Stern
The Northern Illinois Conservation Club's 4th annual Turkey Shoot has taken its place in history, as a young army of scatter-gun shooters made off with 130 plump young turkeys, ducks, and rock cornish hens, enough to smooth out the wrinkles in many a belly.

They blew up an assortment of some 5500 shells in the process, thereby providing a feeling of well-being to the manufacturers of this article, as well as to the wild game, at whom these shells were not shot. The NICC trap range enjoys a commanding view of the Grass Lake marsh where the duck hunters were encouraged and vice-versa. While the gunners at the shoot were scoring birds all day long, the hunters in their blinds sat there sucking their thumbs while watching all this activity. There were no ducks flying for them to shoot at. Top gun of the meet was Ed Kopke, 1924 N. Woodlawn Park, McHenry. In an act of true generosity, he left his birds with the officers of the NICC to be given to a charity of their choice, true evidence of his concern for his fellow man.

Defensive Team
Doug Kilman, Grayslake; Ron Kelter, Warren; Bob Duprey, Lake Zurich; Jim Sutherland, Wauconda.
Interior Linemen—Mike Doyle, Warren; Phil Bungeard, Grayslake; Ken Janke, Grant; Rich Varner, Grayslake; Dave Peterson, Lake Zurich.
Line Backers—Gene Van Cleave, Round L.; Tom Schweiss, Grant; Pat Grady, Grayslake; Jim Deichman, Grayslake; Don Holcomb, Grant; Tyrone Walls, Antioch.
Backs—Jim Krieche, Lake Zurich; Dave Subject, Grayslake; Bill Klein, Grant; Raleigh Galgan, Warren; Sid Williams, Warren; John Warmbold, Lake Forest.

Prepare 1966 H.S. Sequoia

Sheryl Meyer and John Lindblad, editors of the Antioch Community High School's 1966 yearbook, Sequoia, are directing the early stages of preparing pictures, copy, and layouts for this year's book. Other key staff positions are held by Wendy Keuchenmeister, business manager; Kathy Gross, layout editor; Meolnne Jensen, copy editor; and Candy Bentel and Ruth Dyer, picture editors.

Five staff members, accompanied by the faculty advisor, Mrs. Carol Mapleshorpe, recently attended a yearbook conference on the University of Illinois campus at Urbana under the auspices of the Illinois State High School Press Association.

Advertising for the book is now being sold to local businessmen and student subscriptions are being taken during lunch periods until November 5.

No folly quite equals that of the indulgent parents who seek to spare their children from the roughness of the competitive struggle. In doing this they rob them of the essence of happiness, which is mental and physical fitness for life on any terms.

Questions And Answers On Social Security

Q. Why should a person over 65 who is still working, consider completing an application for social security benefits?

A. At 65, even if you continue working, your application will establish your eligibility for hospital insurance under the Medicare program. In addition, this application would give you an opportunity to enroll in the voluntary medical insurance plan.

Q. During the past month I heard that a person should enroll for medical insurance before March 31, 1966 if he is 65 or over before January 1, 1966. Why are these dates so important?

A. If you will be 65 or over on January 1, 1966 and do not enroll by March 31, 1966, you would not have medical protection when the program starts on July 1, 1966. In fact, a long delay in signing up for medical insurance benefits could result in a total loss of such benefits.

Q. I am 61 years old and disabled. Could I receive benefits under the Medicare program?

A. The Medicare provisions apply only to people age 65 and over. In no case, however, will medical insurance take effect before July 1, 1966.

Q. If I go to my doctor for a routine check-up, how much will Medicare pay toward my expenses?

A. Routine physical check-up, eyeglasses, hearing aids, private-duty nurses, custodial care, and personal services such as a telephone or television would not be covered under this program.

Q. How will I know I am covered by the Medicare program?

A. If you are age 65 or over and receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits, you qualify automatically for hospital insurance. An application for medical insurance has been mailed to you. This form should be completed and returned to the Social Security Administration as soon as possible. Anyone having questions about completing the card should contact their social security representative.

Q. I have never worked under social security. Can I still qualify for Medicare?

A. Most people who are or will be age 65 before 1968 will be eligible for hospital and medical insurance even if they have no credit for work under social security.

Q. Since Medicare is in effect, should I drop my present health insurance plan?

A. None of the health insurance programs under social security start until July 1, 1966. Don't because of this new law, cancel any hospital or medical insurance you may now have.

IRS Prints New Income Tax Forms

The Internal Revenue Service announced that printing of 1965 income tax forms and instructions has started at the Government Printing Office.

Taxpayers will receive their tax form packages as usual, about January 1. Tax practitioners on record with IRS automatically received a special sample pamphlet containing most of the forms and order blanks late in October.

The Revenue Service said that the new forms and instructions contain several revisions for the convenience of taxpayers and the Government.

A significant addition to the instructions for Form 1040 is a new section on page 2 designated "Important New Features."

New features referred to are: (1) Reduction in the number of tax tables from 5 to 3, to make it easier to find the correct tax; (2) state sales tax tables and gasoline tax rates for deduction purposes; and (3) an explanation of the combat pay exclusion for servicemen in Vietnam.

Type face and typography have been revised on both Forms 1040 and 1040A. In addition, first names of children have been reinstated on both forms, as well as space provided on both for entering present employer's name. The new Form 1040A also now requires the employer's address.

The giant presses of the Government Printing Office will require 10 weeks to complete the entire printing task, using in the process 8½ million pounds of paper, and 70,000 pounds of ink.

The giant presses of the Government Printing Office produce for Internal Revenue 42 million Form 1040 income tax packages and 22 million packages of 1040A's, but GPO also produces almost a billion other forms needed by the IRS, using its own capacity and that of 40 or more commercial printers located throughout the United States.

They give their best—US Army Nurse Corps.

Safety Comm. Pinpoints Dangerous Intersections

A study by the Lake County Safety Commission has pinpointed the most dangerous intersections in the county.

Intersection have accounted for around 65% of all the accidents involving two, or more vehicles.

The five intersections which have won the dubious distinction of being the most dangerous are U. S. Route 41 and Ill. Route 137, adjacent to Great Lakes; Ill. Route 42A and Ill. Route 120, West of Waukegan; U.S. Rt. 41 and Ill. Rt. 132 in Gurnee; Rt. 417 and 22nd St. just outside of North Chicago; and U.S. Rt. 12 and Ill. Rt. 120 in Volo.

The total number of accidents at these intersections in five years was 453.

The major causes of intersection collisions are driving too fast for conditions, running a stop light or failure to come to a complete stop, following too closely, left turn violations, failure to yield the right of way and careless driving.

Harry H. Stern and the Commission Secretary made a study of the "Deadly Five" intersections between 9 and 5 p.m. on October 20, in an attempt to find the reasons for the high accident rate. They found that in most cases the main cause was the human element plus heavy traffic, rather than the condition of the intersections.

Specifically, Rt. 41 and 132 was found to need improvement more than the others. The intersection is within the village of Gurnee and some of the bad conditions are: unlighted concrete abutment in the center of Rt. 41; lack of proper lighting in the underpass on Grand Ave., coupled with heavy cement pillars which block the view of oncoming traffic from Rt. 41 onto Grand Ave.

The Commission feels that this intersection should be completely revamped.

At 42A and 120, the Commission felt special nighttime lighting would help. Also, the shoulders are in bad shape and too far below the concrete. Route 41 and 22nd St.—here the danger was increased by the railroad crossing on 22nd St. which blocks the vision of the intersection to westbound motorists. Also, shrubbery should be removed from the southwest corner.

One-fourth of all traffic deaths occur there.

The lesson to be given by Mrs. Helen Volk will be "Food and Culture from Other Lands."

CHILD ABUSES REPORTED

Cases of suspected child abuse involving 138 children have been reported since the state child abuse law took effect four months ago, according to Cyril H. Winking, director of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Winking said two-thirds of the cases involved beatings and one-sixth included fractures. Other types of abuse reported were malnutrition, burns, stabbing, poisoning, molesting and failure to administer needed medications.

Of the department's eight regions, Chicago had the most reported cases, 81. The Springfield region had the fewest, 3. Reports to other regions were as follows: Aurora, 14; Rockford, 7; Peoria, 10; Champaign, 8; East St. Louis, 11; and Carbondale, 4.

The law requires physicians, other practitioners and hospital administrators to report cases of child abuse and serious neglect to the department within 24 hours of the examination of the child.
